

MARCHAND'S CHARGES OF 'PERSUASION'

The Lodge senatorial scandal is growing hourly. Specific charges are now openly made. The Republican bosses—"Ned" Curtis, collector of the port of Boston, and Fred Emery, the "smooth politician" of the Licensing Board, who persuaded the two Democratic Senators, Murray and Curley, to violate their pledges to the party and vote for Henry Cabot Lodge—seem to be rearing the whirlwind.

INVESTIGATION IMPERATIVELY DEMANDED

An investigation of the methods by which these two Democrats were persuaded into voting for the bill is imperative and will shortly be made.

Evidence of improper offers and promises of benefits for votes furnished comes from many ways. Representative Marchand of Lowell says:

"I was told that my bill would be sent by all right if I voted for Sen-of so-called Democrats in gross faithlessness of a corrupt bargain."

We regard any man who will accept an election tainted with such manifest fraud and corruption as unfit and unworthy to hold the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States.

The Post this morning published the following which shows that a member of the House had been approached by offering improper favors and promises of benefits in exchange for the support and passage of the bill in which this man

Senator Lodge." This is the Post's story:

Senator Charles McNichols said that he voted for Lodge because "Neil Carter, publisher of the party's Boston, when did him a very great deal of good in the knowledge that the district he represented [Lodge's] was the public he interested in." McNichols said that he voted for Lodge as he was inspired by himself, because of this "great error" was a violation of his party's pledge and a violation of the spirit of the law in

Senator Beveridge in the United States

"ONE TAINTED VOTE MAKES THE WHOLE ELECTION FOUL."

Senator Murray, the dirt keeper, voted for Judge. He wants a 12 o'clock dinner for his dirt. Was there any connection between Murray's activity and this? If so, it was a violation of the law, as well as a blot on his pedigree to his party.

The Post of yesterday said that Sen.

Marchand Confirms Story.

Representative Marchand of Lowell was questioned by a reporter from the AMERICAN (today). He confirmed the statement that appeared in the Post this morning that he had been approached and promised a bribe for legislation which he promised to have passed by the Legislature if he would vote for Judge McManis as a solid vote.

[illegible]

Charles Curtis, Jr., said that he is the man referred to. If Guild was the man there, it was no violation of the law, because Curtis said he was not an officeholder.

It is very significant that within the last two or three days all the newspapers in Houston have published an announcement that Curtis Guild, Jr., is to be made Ambassador.

Scandal is Growing.

It seems reasonably clear that influence has used by Collector Curtis in violation of the "pernicious activity" rule relative to federal office holders, and influence was so used by Fred Emery, the "smooth politician" of the Licensing Board.

Meanwhile the scandal is developing a head and the tail of cowardice is singular, that the entire nation...

far-away Montana the State Legislature yesterday passed a joint resolution demanding that its representatives in the United States Senate shall insist upon a rigid investigation.

SENSATIONS IN MRS. PLANT'S DIVORCE SUIT

Names of Other Women Implied in Case Are Kept Secret by Lawyers.

Boston society is promised a series of sensations when the divorce suit of Mrs. Caroline Griggs Plant, wife of the recently retired millionaire shoe manufacturer, Thomas G. Plant, is tried in March or April. Legal circles are agitated when Mrs. Plant's suit, with its attachment for $1,500,000, the largest recorded in this state, was filed and it was said that the testimony of private detectives employed by Mrs. Plant to watch her husband during the last two years will make members of society also gasp.

Business circles, especially the shoe trade, are also expected to sit up when the trial of the suit of Harry W. Smith against Mr. Plant for causing him to be sued is due for investigation the suit of the Plant business in the United Shoe Machinery Company for the trade history of stock $7,000,000 deal is likely to be tried in detail. An attachment for $400,000 in that suit also was served on Mr. Plant making $1,900,000 in attachments served on him in one day.

Other Women Named.
It is said that Mrs. Plant alleges infidelity on the part of her husband on both sides refuse to disclose the names of the correspondents. The alleged acts of infidelity are said to have occurred at Cambridge and Bangor, Me., St. George, N. B., New York and several other places.

Mrs. Plant left the Hotel Somerset last night and it was said that he had gone to New York. One of the women named as a correspondent is also understood to be the sister of a hotel in that city.

The marital troubles of the Plants are understood to have begun about two years ago. It is said that then, the couple, who were married in Chicago in 1895, were apparently devoted to each other. Mrs. Plant was Miss Caroline C. Griggs, daughter of a wealthy publisher of Chicago. Both she and Mr. Plant were fond of horses and of outdoor life and they, up to two years ago, entertained largely and were familiar figures at society functions in the city and at summer resorts.

Mr. Plant is estimated to be worth more than $30,000,000. He is the richest person ever sued for divorce in Suffolk County. His factory at one time controlled 1 per cent. of the entire shoe output in the country. More than 12,000 pairs of shoes were made daily at his Jamaica Plain shop. He employed 5,000 persons and was regarded as a king of shoe manufacturers.

Thomas Gustave Plant was for years one of the most striking and romantic figures in the shoe world. From a poor boy in a Lynn factory his rise to riches was rapid. He was born in Maine and received his early education there. It is said that the first money he ever made and the foundation of his capital was made by a wager on a ball team of which he was captain.

In Lynn, where he learned the shoe trade, little was known of him as a factor, but as he grew to be the head of a firm he was looked upon as a man with great future. He was then still a young man. He first came into the limelight when he refused to employ slave labor in his Lynn factory. In a statement issued at that time he declared he would fight until labor if he had to move.

Hosts of Society.
He was laughed at, but the laugh was turned to the other side when he closed his shop and moved to Jamaica Plain, laying the foundation of the largest shoe factory in the world.

Mr. Plant's love of outdoor exercise, horses and yachting, brought him in close touch with society. His millions paved the way. The rest was easy.

During recent years Mr. and Mrs. Plant lived at the Hotel Somerset. They were extensive entertainers, both had private automobiles at their disposal, servants and everything money could purchase.

Some years ago they hired a summer home at Manchester. Mr. Plant became interested in yachting and lawn parties at which his guests were society leaders of Boston, Brooklyn, Newport and the North Shore.

Somehow excitement how happy they were together. He seemed very attractive to his wife and she, too, made her affectionate apparent in public.

During the past two years, however, their relations became less frequent. Society began to talk and those who were most intimate to the Plants declared that divorce proceedings might be expected.

On O. D. Young and Charles H. Tyler and the first name of Tyler & Young. They occupy the entire eleventh floor of the Ames building and are said to be one of the largest law firms in the city.

It is said that the newspaper man admitted that the attachment for $1,500,000 had been filed. He said that he returned to Mrs. Plant in the city? He was asked.

"I cannot tell you where she is. I know I cannot tell you."

"With the filing of the attachment is followed by the filing of a divorce bill?"

"If the papers are filed you can not tell me. When they are filed they are public property. Boys, you can't expect me to make any statement. I am Mrs. Plant's counsel and of course I cannot say anything."

Even though the attachment is large Mr. Plant is not likely to suffer for ready cash. It is understood he has been doctored and real estate to the value of $50,000.

Now Heathy and Strong: Had Been Failing for Years

Mr. La Forge, a harness manufacturer, is a fine old man, 80 years of age, and he feels as lively as any one could expect. His health had been very poorly for the last few years before he began the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It built up his system, brought him such strength and vigor and gave him so much enjoyment in life that now he will not be without it.

In his recent letter he said: "I am 80 years old and have been failing for the last three or four years. I read of the great cures made by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, so I bought two bottles of it, and in two months it put me back in health. I am feeling as fine and strong as a person could ask for, and I truthfully give your whiskey all the credit for it, and, one thing sure, I will not be without Duffy's Malt Whiskey now. I will gladly answer the letters of all who care to write me in regard to the good that this whiskey has done for me."—J. La Forge, Prescott, Iowa.

Mr. La Forge's case is similar to that of thousands of others, both aged men and women, who have been kept hale, hearty and vigorous by the regular use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. When taken at meal time it stimulates the mucous surface of the little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

Company, Rochester, N. Y., stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet, containing rare summer rules for health, which you cannot afford to be without and some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine, and who continue to enjoy good health. It is sold by druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 per large bottle.

NIGHT SESSIONS IN SCHENK TRIAL

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Attorney J. J. O'Brien, counsel for Mrs. Lavinia F. Schenk, announced today that a witness has been heard in the trial of the State that Mrs. Schenk had attempted to poison her husband.

Dr. J. J. O'Brien was the first witness called in the trial. He testified that Mrs. Schenk had been suffering from a nervous condition for some time, and that she had been taking medicine for it.

Accompanying Judge Johnston's commands that the trial be accelerated. At 10 o'clock, O'Brien declared that it may not be necessary to put Mrs. Schenk on the stand to have other evidence by which I can prove the same things that I hope to prove by her," said the lawyer.

Judge Johnston then announced that he would call the witness. In the meantime, the testimony of the witness was given. The determination to hold the trial in the morning was made. The witness testified that she had been suffering from a nervous condition for some time, and that she had been taking medicine for it.

GIVING PRAISES TO HEARST PAPERS

ROME, Jan. 20.—King Victor Emmanuel today granted an audience to Frank L. Pugliese, general manager of the Italian Evening Post of New York. The King questioned Mr. Pugliese about American journalism and expressed wonder that newspapermen could become so great political factors in a nation's life and attain such great circulation as the New York American and the Evening Journal.

Mr. Pugliese talked for more than an hour with the King and his ministers. He discussed the King's interests, however, was centered in the subject of newspaper circulation in the United States and especially in Mr. Pugliese's statement of one heart newspaper in New York city circulates more than 500,000 copies daily.

He and he could well understand how such great circulation would make news papers a great aid to governing bodies.

Mr. Pugliese sought the audience with the King to gain his aid in the work of raising the Italian press to the level of the New York American and the Evening Journal. Three years ago he left the King's court to go to the United States and to be editor of the Italian Evening Post.

He immediately returned to the King. The King, who expressed his delight at the success of Mr. Pugliese, said that he was interested in the work of the Italian press in the United States.

When Mr. Pugliese told of his present position, the King was very interested. He asked Mr. Pugliese to go to the United States and to be editor of the Italian Evening Post.

GOV. BASS ARGUES
LOYALTY DEMANDS
AN INCOME TAX

Loyalty to our country demands that we give to the National Government every power necessary to protect and maintain itself under all circumstances and all dangers.

An income tax is one most equitable form of taxation, because it draws upon the citizens directly in proportion to their ability to bear the burden.

—Governor R. P. Bates, in message to New Hampshire Legislature.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Congressmen Murray and Currier of the New York legislature today made a statement to the press regarding the income tax.

They said that the income tax was a necessary part of the government's revenue and that it was a fair and equitable form of taxation.

$10,000,000
MELLEN LOAN

The New Haven railroad sold another block of $10,000,000 one-year 4½ per cent bonds to New York and Boston bankers today. Public offering will be made shortly.

This makes a total of $22,000,000 one-year bonds which the road has issued since it was authorized to do so by the first $10,000,000 bond issue.

The purpose of this borrowing is not to pay off the old bonds, but to issue new bonds to replace the old ones.

MAYOR REFINES
LABOR STAND

Following a conference with labor leaders at the Central Labor Union headquarters, Mayor Fitzgerald today said his position on the wage scale question was not intended to be a final one.

"I believe my first duty is for the protection of the city," said the mayor.

Mayor Fitzgerald said that it was his wish to have all city employees well treated and as well paid as the employees of private contractors.

He said that he would take the question of wages up with the heads of the various departments.

William H. O'Brien, president of the C. L. U., declared the committee of seven, which represented that organization at the conference, while each of the twenty local unions was represented.

ALL STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES AFTER TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN.

If you had some Diaphepsin handy and would take a little now you probably wouldn't get sick. The Diaphepsin would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will dilate your stomach and overcome any sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't sit right, or you have a heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Stomach Cramps, Diaphepsin will all go away, and besides there will be no digested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath "with nauseous odors."

Pape's Diaphepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold

'NO CORRUPTION ON MY PART,' ASSERTS CURLEY

Senator Martin P. F. Curley repeated today that he voted for Senator Lodge because "Ned Curtis, collector of the Port, and a personal friend of mine, asked me to do this one favor for him and I did it. I have no regret."

Senator Curley was seen at the store where he works in Hoxbury. The reporter had with him a clipping of the denials of the Montana Legislature for an investigation of the Lodge scandal. The Senator read it through carefully. Tears came into his eyes. He brushed them away. Then he said:

"There was no corruption on my part."

FOR NED.

By MORTON BIRGE.

Just listen to Curley and get what he said.

When the question was put he never shifted his foot.

For a sidestep or dodge: "Yes, I voted for Lodge."

"I did it all just to please Ned."

"I voted for Lodge in place of Ned."

"Ned is an old friend of mine."

For friendship's sake, you can't expect a sentiment, you can't expect a sentiment noble and fine."

For friendship's sake, you can't expect a sentiment, you can't expect a sentiment noble and fine."

It's simple for Curley. Some men scratch their head.

Then they make up their mind. And then some go to bed.

When they vote or debate. But friends don't make up their mind.

Just wait till I telephone Ned."

"I'll vote on this bill to please Curley."

For Ned is an old friend of mine."

"I've not seen him yet but as soon as I get home I'll know what to do."

Curley says: "Wait."

"I'll get him right off on the line."

And likewise for Curtis. He's nothing to dread.

All he does is to note when the time comes to vote.

Then he goes in a call for one Curley, that's all."

"Say, Curley, you? This is Ned."

"You'll vote on this bill to please Curley."

For Ned is an old friend of mine."

The papers may ring for they must have their thing."

But, come down to cases, old friendship's the thing."

So, Curley, you know what to do."

MUTILATED CHICAGO MAN UNIDENTIFIED

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A bloody finger print on the handle of the axe which was used to break the body of an unidentified man in pieces after the man had been stabbed to death were the only clues the police had today to the mysterious murder of which has puzzled Chicago for twenty-four hours. So far it has been impossible to identify the man, although at first the police believed he was Grimmerman, a fugitive from law. Several men and three women were arrested. The theory that the man was murdered by Black Handers is being revived.

BLACK SMALLPOX IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—As a result of the discovery of black smallpox in a house on Callowhill street, 2,800 persons have been quarantined in this city by order of Chief Health Inspector Cairns. The disease has existed in the house since Christmas.

PICTURES SHOW PERIL OF FIES

The earliest reference to the danger of the fly as a disease carrier was found in the Bible in the books of Leviticus and Deuteronomy. That is one of the things Dr. Herbert H. Pease told members of the New York Woman's Municipal League yesterday in his headquarters.

"I am sure," said Dr. Pease, "that much of the disease-barring in the houses was to produce a vapor to kill or drive away flies. You know that the slaughtering of the animals took place in the temples."

After his talk, Dr. Pease showed moving pictures of flies, showing to us as large as birds, they walked about on refuse taking up disease germs in their legs and feet. The pictures were brought to this city through the efforts of Edward Hutton, Jr., Dr. Pease said, and have been shown at the disposal of moving picture theatres for free exhibition.

"It was first announced in New York in 1907 that flies were germ transmitters," Dr. Pease said. "The estimated number of cases of typhoid fever are about thirty and enteric colitis, thirty-eight per cent of the deaths in the city in 1907. In 1908, the number was 1,000. In 1909, it was 1,000. GRIFFITH HEIR TO A MILLION

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—"Millionaire" manager is Charles Griffith's new title. He, who was a New York lawyer, told him that he is "heir to a million" in New York real estate, left him by his grandfather, Francis Griffith, who lived in Manhattan in 1850, then moved to Albemarle County, Virginia, where Charles and his father were born. Robert wrote: "By receiving the records I learn you are the grandson of Francis Griffith, wealthy land owner on Manhattan Island, who left that city in 1850 and went to Virginia. At the time of his departure he held title to property valued at millions in the vicinity of Third Avenue and Broadway. He left the money to his son, Charles, who was to be easy for you to New York, but the children were never the lawyer has the right down on my family," said the newly made millionaire. My grandfather's name was Francis; he was wealthy; he lived in New York at an early date, and he moved to Virginia, where I was born.

Desperate Desmond

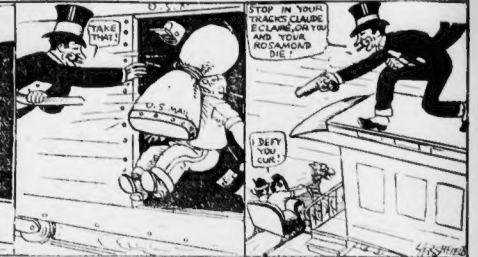

That man, Desmond, can't always have his own way. He has been seen when a railway train crosses his path, as you are, he still has one noble heroism left in him. He has been seen when a railway train crosses his path, as you are, he still has one noble heroism left in him. He has been seen when a railway train crosses his path, as you are, he still has one noble heroism left in him.

The train is screeching a station, and the mail clerk is putting out the book to grab the mail bag without stopping. As the train will have it, Desmond is right in the way of the book, and he is not to be deterred. He is not to be deterred. He is not to be deterred.

Oh, now we see. So that's what he wanted. The sack was as he could get the mail clerk with it and put him out of the way. The sack was as he could get the mail clerk with it and put him out of the way. The sack was as he could get the mail clerk with it and put him out of the way.

They Raised a Pet

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

It had been a very trying period for the Mother and Father of the Pet. They had worked hard for many days planning comforts and pleasures for their daughter, an Only Child, and when they awoke one morning and found it was dark and gloomy, they turned over for another nap.

ROAST SPARIBBS
Put one and one-half pounds of sparibbs in a shallow roasting pan with one cup of water. Put four good-sized hot sparibbs and put them into the pan with the meat. In half an hour turn meat and sparibbs, remove the sparibbs and cover the pan. About an hour in a moderate oven will be sufficient.

Good Grooming.

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

A CAREFUL selection of the clothing to wear is the first step in good grooming. No hanging buttons, loose ends of neck, shabby collar, etc., are it is after all the little things that count.

Synopsis of Previous Installments
The story opens at a fashionable hotel in New York. Emerson, a young lawyer, is the hero. He is a handsome, well-to-do man, and is the son of a wealthy family. He is the son of a wealthy family. He is the son of a wealthy family.

Here is just the kind of garment you would like to wear—and how you may make it. A garment that yields readily to every movement of the body—every strain and pressure—then regains its original shape. So soft and warm that it is a real pleasure to wear; so beautiful in texture and coloring that you are proud to be seen wearing it; so durable that you can wear it as much as you like without destruction.

Occasionally one of them would lead back and turn to the table and figure out a sum with a pencil.

weakness that I rather hate to mention

And I'm only speaking of it with the kindest of intention. It is likely, I imagine, you're unable to detect it.

Or I'm pretty sure and certain you would hasten to correct it. It's your constant flow of foolish and inconsequential chatter. Of the things that don't concern us and the things that do not matter. I'm unwilling to offend you; I don't want a hus or shady. But, my friend, there's no denying you're too overbearing windy.

We don't care for your opinions on the woman suffrage question. And we're not much interested in your chronic indigestion. While your poodie may seem human, he's so wonderfully clever. We can't listen with enjoyment while you brag of him forever. When you say these things to Thompson, it is possible you score some. But we find the repetition is unutterably boreome.

And while doubtless Thompson's conduct was particularly snabby, There is nothing to excuse you when you're so darnation gabby.

Tom Powers's Moving Picture screen in the Great City Life Section of next Sunday's AMERICAN shows how much the former is worth.
